CONSTITUTIONAL CARRY BILL PASSES OVERWHELMINGLY

CONCORD - House Majority Leader Jack Flanagan (R-Brookline) offered the following statement relative to the passage of SB 116, a bill that allows a person to carry a loaded, concealed pistol or revolver without a license unless such person is otherwise prohibited by New Hampshire statute. SB 116 passed by a vote of 212-150.

"The vast majority of gun owners are law abiding citizens. SB 116 protects law abiding gun owners by advancing their right to carry a concealed firearm, as long as they are legally able to own one, without the subjective permitting process. This is a reasonable and long overdue measure that will extend freedom for our responsible firearms community, and will be an overall deterrent to crime."

"Contrary to what opponents of the bill would like us to believe, SB 116 will not enable a proliferation of criminal activity. This bill does not extend rights of those who would be otherwise prohibited by state or federal law from possessing a firearm. Those with criminal intent will continue to obtain, carry, and use firearms in illegal ways. Impeding the rights of lawful gun owners based on the actions of criminals is unfair. The House vote today reflects the sentiment of New Hampshire voters who overwhelmingly support laws that uphold our "Live Free or Die" motto."

SB116 now heads back to the Senate for a concurrence vote, then to the desk of Gov. Hassan, who has already promised to veto the bill.

REPUBLICAN WINS ROCKINGHAM COUNTY SEAT

Dennis Green Takes 60% of the vote in Hampstead-Kingston district.

Decisive victory thwarts Dem attacks on House budget.

HAMPSTEAD - When the polls closed on Tuesday evening, Hampstead resident and Republican candidate Dennis Green was victorious over Democrat Carol Croteau in the Rockingham County District 13 special election.

Despite the district's Republican leanings, state Democrats devoted significant time and resources to the special election hoping to sway the outcome in their favor and characterize the victory as a referendum on
the recent House budget vote.

Republican Dennis Green, who ran a great campaign and had a great voter turnout operation, won by an impressive 20% margin (60% - 40%)

Congratulations to Representative-Elect Green, who will be sworn in at the next available quorum of the Executive Council, possibly next Wednesday, May 6th. With Green's addition, there will be 237 House Republicans seated.

The next special election will be held on May 13th in Rockingham County district 32, which includes the towns of Northwood, Nottingham, Candia, and Deerfield.

The House will be in session Wednesday, May 6th at 10:00 a.m.

There will be a Republican caucus at prior to the House session at 9am in Reps Hall.

HOUSE FINANCE COMMITTEE GIVES BOOST TO FUTURE DEVELOPMENT

Senate Bill 30 Now Moves to the Full House for Approval

Concord—The future of tourism, job creation and development in the state's North Country and other rural areas received a boost today when the Republican led House Finance committee unanimously approved a bill (SB 30) authorizing the Business Finance Authority to guarantee bonds for projects in unincorporated towns in New Hampshire.

While the legislation still must receive approval from the full House and the governor, Speaker Jasper called it a good step toward revitalizing the northern part of the state, "For those of us who campaigned on a platform of supporting policies that would create jobs and help our economy, this is an opportunity to fulfill that promise. This legislation lays the foundation for new economic development in Coos County, where unemployment rates are highest in the State, and paves the way for similar growth opportunities in other rural areas," said Speaker Jasper.

The bill extends the local option for municipal economic development and revitalization districts to include unincorporated places in addition to cities and towns. Twenty-three of the twentyfive unincorporated places in the state are located in Coos county, with the other two located in Carroll and Grafton counties.

"There is no silver bullet when it comes to staving off economic hardship, but SB 30 gives the area a rock solid chance of reinventing itself with the state's assistance, and bringing prosperity back to an economically challenged area of our state. I look forward to the day when the governor can sign this bill and economic development in our rural areas can move forward.," added the speaker.

If the bill is passed and signed by the governor, it would allow projects in the unincorporated towns of the state to apply for bond guarantees through the normal state Business Finance Authority (BFA) process, which would also require a full review and approval by the Governor.

The bill will come before the full House for a vote on Wednesday, May 6th.

SB 30-FN-L, (2nd New Title) permitting counties with unincorporated areas to establish tax increment financing districts. OUGHT TO PASS WITH AMENDMENT.

Rep. J. Tracy Emerick for Finance. This bill is NOT a bill that provides funding to any project; that is the responsibility of the Business Finance Authority (BFA). This bill does four things: 1. Establishes the structure so the county commissioners and the county delegation can act as a taxing authority over unincorporated areas in their county. This puts bond repayment in the same category as tax payments in municipalities, at the front of the line for payment before any other liabilities. 2. Allows the BFA to consider bond guarantees for businesses in unincorporated areas in the State of New Hampshire of which there are 26, the majority of which are in Coos County. 3. Limits to $30 million the amount the project BFA can guarantee for any one project. 4. Raises the BFA guarantee ceiling for all projects from $95 million, set in 1994, to $115 million to provide the BFA the opportunity to support commercial development in New Hampshire. The state treasurer has stated that this increase will have no effect on the state's bond rating, nor will it affect the state's borrowing capacity. This is a bill that provides equal BFA opportunity to unincorporated areas that municipalities currently enjoy. Vote 22-0.

VOTER ID MOVING FORWARD

Photograph Technology Deploying This Summer

The portion of the voter ID law requiring photographs of voters who execute a challenged voter affidavit set to take effect on September 1. 2015

For the last few months, there has been discussion on how exactly local precincts would facilitate the photography and/or printing aspects of the forthcoming provision of the law, including whether or not the state would be providing the equipment cameras and printers.

Contrary to concerns that were raised earlier this year, there will be no need for any election official to use his or her own cell phone, or for any town or city to buy their own equipment. There will be no unfunded mandate, and the photograph provision of the law will take effect at its scheduled date. barring any unforeseen legislative change.

The solution identified by the Secretary of State is to use HAVA (Help America Vote Act) funds, supplied by the federal government, to purchase cameras that amount to a modern day polaroid. with instant printing capability. There will be no need for separate printers, and the capabilities of the camera will meet the requirements of the law.

Cities with municipal primary elections this September will be the first to receive the new equipment.

This is a win for Voter ID, by eliminating the possibility of an unfunded mandate, and moving forward with this important provision of law without using state tax dollars.

Since we are now in the period during which the House is acting on Senate bills and vice versa, we wanted to provide some information on the processes bills still need to go through. These include committees of conference, enrolled bills, action by the Governor, and if necessary sustaining or overriding a governor's veto.

COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE PROCESS

Every bill must be passed in identical form by each of the two bodies, Senate and House, before it is sent to the Governor.

If a bill has been amended by the non-originating body, it is sent back to the originating body for concurrence. At this point, there are three options:

- The originating body concurs, or agrees, and the bill is sent to the Governor.
- The originating body nonconcurs, or does not agree, and requests a Committee of Conference between the two bodies. In this case, the Senate President and the House Speaker normally appoint a conference committee of members of both houses to work out a compromise.
- The originating body does not concur, no Committee of Conference is requested, and the bill dies.

All reports of conference committees must be distributed to the members of each body before action can be taken. The originating body acts first on a conference committee report.

ENROLLED BILL PROCESS

When a bill has passed both houses, it is sent to the Committee on Enrolled Bills for the purpose of enrolling. This committee carefully examines the bill for clerical errors or formal imperfections. In case of such errors, it reports them back to both houses for amendment in those particulars only.

Once the enrolling reports are read in each house, the bill is signed by the Senate President or the Speaker of the House. (This is an administrative function only and does not carry power of veto by refusal.) The bill is then forwarded to the Secretary of State.

The bill is transmitted to the Governor by the Secretary of State. It may be recalled from the Governor any time before it is acted upon, by a majority vote of the Senate or House, whichever last had possession.

THE FINAL ACCEPTANCE OR REJECTION OF A BILL

If the legislature has not adjourned, the Governor has five days in which to sign the bill, veto the bill, or allow the measure to pass without signature. When the bill is signed, it becomes law; if it is neither signed nor vetoed, it becomes law without signature.

If the bill is vetoed, it returns to the body where it originated, with a veto message. This veto, to be overturned, must have a two-thirds roll call vote in each body. It then becomes law without the Governor's signature. Without the two-thirds affirmative vote in both bodies, the veto is upheld.

If the Legislature has adjourned, the Governor has five days (excluding Sundays and holidays) in which to sign the bill. If it is not signed, the bill dies. This is the "pocket veto." Each bill carries in its final paragraphs the specific date that it is to go into effect.
